

Grosvenor's purpose is to improve properties and places to deliver lasting commercial and social benefit in the cities and local communities in which we operate. By focusing on integrity in all aspects of crafting exceptional developments, we have made long-term contributions in vibrant neighbourhoods throughout Vancouver – most recently along the Ambleside beachfront in West Vancouver and in the community of Edgemont Village in North Vancouver.

With all of our properties, we strive to blend a far-sighted, international perspective with an intimate knowledge of the local community.

Designed to be a timeless addition to Vancouver's skyline, The Pacific has been crafted with the utmost care, sophisticated architecture and thoughtful interior design.

We are proud to include The Pacific as a prominent addition to our legacy of international properties.

CITY + NATURE

Vancouver embodies the modern ideals of the world's most livable cities.

Its unique urban identity – a result of global leadership in planning and architecture – is enhanced and softened by a spectacular setting.

Vancouver's urban and natural edges meet on the bright southern shore, a quiet neighbourhood removed from the humming downtown core. Parks, sandy beaches, the seawall and seaside restaurants define this established residential community.

PACIFIC + HORNBY

The Pacific is the next chapter in the legacy of this location and a timeless addition to Vancouver's skyline.

For over a century this property has been – and will continue to be – home to Leslie House, a local landmark with a storied history. The “little yellow house” is best known as the location of Il Giardino restaurant and is one of the oldest remaining homes in downtown Vancouver.

From a distance, The Pacific's simplicity shines with an understated elegance. Up close, the architectural complexity is revealed in its details. The result is a building of sophisticated stature that responds to its prominent location.

WORLD CLASS VIEWS

Views span from the North Shore Mountains to Stanley Park, west to English Bay and Vancouver Island and across the downtown skyline to False Creek.

GROSVENOR

Since developing London's fashionable Mayfair in the 1720s and elegant Belgravia a hundred years later, the Grosvenor name has been associated with world-class real estate. Today, we are one of the world's largest privately owned property businesses.

Our interest and experience in Vancouver is well established, beginning over 60 years ago when we expanded our property investment, management and development business to North America. We have been active in residential development much of this time and aim to make long-term contributions to the neighbourhoods in which we are active by using creative design and high-quality building methods in all our projects.

For The Pacific, as with all of Grosvenor's developments, decisions are made locally, based on respect for the uniqueness of the place, the people who live there and the detailed knowledge of our specialist teams.

ARCHITECTURE + DESIGN

The Pacific's architecture reflects a desire for quiet sophistication that commands attention without extravagance.

On the tower's north and south facades, a sleek curtain of floor-to-ceiling windows lends a clean, elegant finish. On the east and west facades, deep balconies in shades of white and grey create a sense of movement and texture from afar and below.

A brushed stainless steel frame extends the height of the tower, giving each facade its own identity. This use of contrast and reflection brings The Pacific to life, allowing the tower to mirror the sky's mood.

A TIMELESS ARCHITECTURAL ADDITION TO VANCOUVER'S SKYLINE.

HERITAGE

In the 1880s, George Leslie built a Queen Anne-style home on Hornby Street that came to be known as Leslie House. Ninety years later, the heritage residence formed part of Umberto Menghi's famed Il Giardino restaurant.

Today, Leslie House is a local landmark and an asset to the community. As one of Vancouver's treasured heritage homes, the "little yellow house" will be carefully restored and relocated to Pacific Street.

ART + CULTURE

Grosvenor values arts and culture and understands the positive impact they can have on vibrancy and diversity in cities. At The Pacific, Canadian artist, Lyse Lemieux, has been commissioned to create a public art installation that aims to respond to the architecture and engage with the community.

Across the lane, Grosvenor is gifting 825 Pacific to the City of Vancouver. BC Artscape, a not-for-profit that provides spaces to artists and arts organizations, will operate this new cultural hub.

AWARD-WINNING SUSTAINABILITY

Like all Grosvenor buildings, 825 Pacific focuses on integrating green practices and creating a sustainable future. This seven-storey building is built to Passive House standards, significantly reducing its overall energy consumption and producing nearly zero emissions. Recognizing the importance of the building's design, it was a winner of the Net-Zero Energy-Ready Challenge Award presented by the Government of British Columbia. 825 Pacific is an example of what's possible when it comes to sustainability.

SENSE OF ARRIVAL

Step into a grand over-height lobby. Materials that complement the tower's exterior extend inside to create a welcoming and impressive experience.

As a resident, you will enjoy 24-hour concierge service and the convenience of additional lobby access via a dedicated private driveway.

TERRACE + LOUNGE + FITNESS

A thoughtfully landscaped and illuminated terrace provides an area for outdoor cooking and dining with intimate seating areas that connect to an elegantly appointed lounge and entertainment space inside.

A well-equipped fitness centre designed in collaboration with Elite Performance™ offers a bright and private space to focus on health and wellness.
